

POND WATER NOT KIND TULSA WANTS

Physician Says Decayed Vegetation and Silt From Hillsides Makes Source of Supply Undesirable.

SPAVINAW FLOW IS FRESH

Evaporation Problem Would Necessitate Construction of Enormous Reservoirs to Furnish Supply.

A. W. Roth, one of Tulsa's most prominent physicians and medical experts, protests to the suggestion that the citizens of Tulsa substitute pond water for the kind now being supplied. If there is to be a change there ought to be an improvement in the quality, he thinks He says:

"The least unpounded water we have to content with the better off we are. The vegetation that accumulates around ponds is productive of bad odors and makes very undesirable water."

"On account of the heavy evaporation during our long summers and the fact that the basin would rapidly fill with silt washed down from the hillsides it would be necessary to build a reservoir much larger than our needs under other conditions would require to carry sufficient supply for the city."

"These are some of the reasons why I think Spavinaw water is the most desirable. Considering the volume of the flow and the character of the soil through which it passes, it is the best running water that I have seen in Oklahoma."

"Primarily the thing to do is to get the quality and quantity of water needed. The expense is a secondary consideration."

Germany Defeat Reds.—LONGONI, March 7.—German troops on the Baltic coast have severely defeated the Bolsheviks and have captured Riga, according to a report received by the Telegraph.

At an early date Judge Campbell will call the committee to

The preliminary work is now in the hands of the committee appointed by George Campbell. When the association is formed every member will have a voice in the selection of the site and the kind of memorial. Suggestions of a statue, a drinking fountain, an arched bridge have been made, but a charter that as yet has not been considered.
